TRAGIC FUN TRIP

Wife Hadn't Flown Before

By DON MILLER

A Daly City truck driver and his wife, who had never flown before, and a South San Francisco flyer were among the 85 persons who died in the crash of a Paradise Airlines Constellation Sunday on a Sierra Nevada mountain top near Lake Tahoe.

The plane was en route to Tahoe Valley Airport from San Jose on a fun trip to the Tahoe area.

The Daly City victims were Stanley Buoncrisiani, 41, and his wife, Dolores, 38, of 169 Santa Cruz Avenue.

The flyer was Donald Watson, 29, of 810 Baden Street, South San Francisco, co-pilot of the four-engine Constellation.

The Buoncrisianis were the parents of a nine-month-old daughter, Lisa, and another daughter, Linda, 12, a seventh grade student at upper Colma School in Daly City.

Mrs. Buoncrisiani's sister, Mrs. Alice Thomas of San Jose, also died in the crash. Mrs. Thomas' husband, Lee, operates a tavern in San Jose from which 22 customers left on the trip.

Mrs. Buoncrisiani was a saleslady for Knit Kraft Sportswear shop in San Francisco.

Joseph Jacoby, manager of the shop, said he understood that she "didn't care about flying" and that as far as he knew she had never flown in an airplane before.

He added that she had expressed a reluctance to take the plane to Lake Tahoe. She had been employed by Knit Kraft for the past five years.

Her husband had been employed as a truck driver for the ONC Motor Freight System of Alameda since November of 1958. He worked out of the company's Oakland terminal.

The couple had left their daughters with Mrs. Buoncrisiani's mother and grandmother in San Jose before leaving on the Tahoe trip, according to Jacoby.

Mrs. W. J. Seagrave of 163 Santa Cruz, a neighbor of the victims, said the couple had lived at the Santa Cruz address for about the last seven years.

Watson, the co-pilot had flown for Paradise for about a year. The airliner missed the top of the 8,700-foot Sierra Nevada ridge it crashed into by about 25 feet, according to the pilot of an Air Force helicopter that landed later at the crash scene.

2nd Hearing Granted for B'nai Israel

D.A. Declares Legality Is In Doubt

The beleaguered congregation of B'nai Israel in Daly City got a break yesterday when the County Board of Supervisors agreed to grant a rehearing of the group's application for a permit for a new synagogue.

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson, noting that the board had previously denied an appeal filed by the group, said the legality of reopening the matter at this time was questionable.

It would have been safer, he said, if the congregation had started all over with a new application. This would have delayed action for several weeks, however, and required the payment of another $25 filing fee.

Supervisors decided to take the risk and give the congregation a new hearing, which was scheduled for 3 p.m. March 26. It was pointed out that, if the legality of the action is questioned, it could delay the matter even more.

S.S.F. Baby Strangled in Torn Curtain

A young mother found her baby dead, strangled in a bedroom curtain of their Naval housing project quarters at South San Francisco, just before her husband arrived home last Tuesday night.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Kaiser Foundation Emergency Hospital was Donald Ray White Jr., 1½, son of a Moffet Field sailor, 90 Cape Esperance Avenue.

The child and his sister, Susan, 2½, had been sent into the bedroom to play while their mother visited a neighbor.

Fifteen minutes later the mother, Mrs. Wanda White, looked in and saw the baby hanging from the curtain.

D.C. CITY ENGINEER

Chapman Honored By Jaycee Award

The Daly City-Colma Junior Chamber of Commerce's first annual Distinguished Service Award was presented last Wednesday to William Chapman, city engineer of Daly City.

Others who had been nominated for the award included: Monte Dayton, operations manager of The Post-Times and north county manager of The San Mateo Times; James Vick, scout leader, and Jack Wood, news editor of The Daly City Record.

Presentation of the award was made by Ernie Lewis, vice president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The keynote speaker was Tony Longhetti of Rialto, president of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Master of Ceremonies and chairman of the dinner was Jack Kelly.

Mrs. Miriam Saxe of Saxe Realty was named "Boss of the Year" by the service organization and four awards of commendation were given in recognition of the city's efforts in Operation Santa Claus.

Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce Manager Pete Markovich and Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy were praised by the Jaycees for their leadership in Operation Santa Claus.

Alec Land of Alec Discount Stores and Ken Colvin of Colvin Foods in Palo Alto were cited for huge donations of money and foodstuffs made to the drive.

Chapman, 34, lives with his wife, Virginia and five children at 221 St. Catherine Drive. He received the award for activities "beyond his normal job duties."

Pet Hospital Turned Down

Pacific planning commissioners agreed Monday that construction of pet hospitals should now be allowed in first-class commercial zones.

The commission's action was in effect, a refusal of an application to allow construction of a new pet hospital on the Free-way Frontage Road at Brighton Road.

It was pointed out last night that it had been proposed that the pet hospital be constructed on a lot with well under 4,000 square feet, when city councilmen have issued a policy that no homes be built on lots with less than 5,000 square feet.

The city does allow pet hospitals. (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

More Serra Aid Pledged

South San Francisco's City Council promised again Monday night to continue working for pedestrian safety at Clay Avenue and Junipero Serra Boulevard.

The council was thanked by Winston Manor citizens for their efforts so far, which have resulted in a reduced speed limit, reduction of visual barriers, and increased policing.

Citizens said, however, that they still want an overpass or some sort of grade crossing so their children can walk to school. (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

N. County Parochial High School Planned

Plans for a new parochial high school in the North County are in the development stage, according to an announcement made last week by a spokesman for Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of the Archdiocese of San Francisco.

The new school, to be called Archbishop Alemany High School, is included in a $15.5-million fund drive by the Archdiocese that is nearing the halfway mark.

Donations totalling $7,254,036 have been received to date in the St. Mary's Cathedral and Archdiocesan Development Campaign. The figure represents 46.6 percent of the goal.

In addition to the new school, the fund will be used to build a new St. Mary's Cathedral, a home for the aged, a new college seminary, two other high schools and an extension of Marin Catholic High.

Several sites are being considered for Alemany High School, the spokesman said. The new plant is made necessary by enrollment. (Please See Page 2, Col. 1)

IN NEW BUSINESSES

N. County Leads the Way

The North County's claim that it is one of the fastest growing areas in Northern California was backed up last week by a report released by Dun & Bradstreet.

Daly City and South San Francisco, the report said, led the county in an overall 34.7 increase in businesses over the past 10 years.

Daly City recorded an increase of 86.9 per cent. In 1953, there were 267 businesses—not including professional and services businesses such as barber and beauty shops, real estate and stock brokers.

At the end of 1963, the city had 499 businesses listed. Accounting for most of the gain was the full development of the Westlake Shopping Center, Skyline Plaza Shopping Center and the St. Francis Square Shopping Center.

Westlake had only 25 stores in 1953, compared to 91 now.

Skyline has 21 stores and St. Francis Square 18.

South San Francisco's business roster jumped from 331 to 551 in the 10-year period, according to the report.

The city of San Mateo, with a 73,000 population, still holds the over-all county lead in the number of businesses with 992.

The county's percentage of increase was more than 11 times greater than the over-all Bay Area rise. San Mateo County was topped only by Santa Clara County.

Neighboring San Francisco on the other hand, registered a 23.4 per cent decline. The city dropped from 18,666 businesses in 1953 to 14,289 last year.

Over-all, an increase in businesses in the 47 counties of Northern California showed a 4.2 per cent rise.

In the nine Bay Area counties, the increase was 2.7 per cent.

Rams Place 3 Players On All-NPL Name Hannigan Loop's Most Valuable

By RON BATES

The Westmoor Rams, champions of the North Peninsula League, dominated All-League selections made Monday by NPL coaches.

Westmoor placed three men on first and second teams, including Most Valuable Player, senior Mike Hannigan.

El Camino and Oceana placed two players each on the dream teams and Jefferson, Terra Nova and South San Francisco placed one man each.

Westmoor's Jim Mason and El Camino's play-making guard, Walt Harris, were the only unanimous choices for the first team.

Mason, a junior transfer student, was chosen for his rebounding and scoring abilities. He lost the scoring crown to Harris in the final game of the season.

Harris, being named to the team, earned an honor he was being touted for last season before an injured ankle slowed him down.

During the season, he scored 170 points while being the play-maker and captain, for the second place Colts.

Hannigan was not even on Westmoor's first team when the season began. He moved into the lineup when the Rams got off to a slow start and coach Tony Giammona began juggling his players.

"He took over the team," Giammona said, "and made it go."

This is the second straight year one of Giammona's charges won the MVP honor. Last year, center John Kelly was named. South San Francisco placed (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

Fox Remains On Pacifica Plan Group

The Pacifica City Council last week agreed to allow James Fox to remain on the Planning Commission after a personnel session in which Fox was questioned closely about statements he made opposing service stations at Linda Mar Boulevard and Adobe Drive.

In a Post-Times story, Fox was quoted in an interview as saying that Pacifica Planning Commissioners could be expected to stand firm on their previously stated convictions that the Sanchez-Adobe area is "no place for commercial development or gas stations."

The interview was published after developer James Telegan announced plans for a neighborhood shopping center and said he would apply later for rezoning.

Later, in an angry letter to (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Zoning Plan To Be Aired

A zoning plan for the former Christen Ranch, annexed to Daly City last August, will be discussed at a special study session of the Daly City Planning Commission at 7:30 tonight in the Daly City Hall.

Suburban Realty Company, developer of a $200-million planned community now underway in this area, will outline its program to the planners.

The commission called the special meeting after E. V. Schulhauser of the development firm had explained the proposed zoning for each portion of the property.

He commented upon the shopping centers, schools, recreation sites and other requirements of the annexation agreement for the area.

Four Apartment Plans Approved

Apartment buildings were the main topic of discussion last week at a Daly City Planning Commission meeting.

Commissioners approved four applications concerning apartment buildings and denied another.

One of those approved was for a variance to build a four-story apartment just west of the intersection of Wellington Avenue and Peoria Street.

Arch Chaney, speaking in behalf of Developer E. T. Kornsthoft, said that the four-story building was proposed because of the terrain.

The building will not exceed 36 feet, the city's current height limitation, he said.

High School Is Planned

One of the primary factors in the decision to locate in the North County is the large Catholic population here, he said.

Serra High School in San Mateo is now the county's only Catholic secondary school for boys.

The Archdiocese owns approximately 11 acres in the vicinity of Mary's Help Hospital.

Pet Hospital Turned Down

James Supinger, the city's junior planner, was instructed to forward a memo to councilmen on the commission's stand.

Commissioners recommended approval of an application of Marion H. Thoreid for a new and used truck sales business on the Coast Highway 100 feet north of Reina del Mar, but continued until March 16 an application of Leonhard Bauer to establish an auto repair service at 1481 Palmetto Avenue.

Approval was also granted to William Lagomarsino of 7100 Mission Street to build apartments in a commercial zone on the southeast corner of Hillside Boulevard and Price Street.

City Engineer William Chapman told the commission that the city's zoning ordinance is silent with regard to off-street parking for apartments in a commercial zone.

The commission then added a one-for-one parking stipulation in recommending approval to the City Council.

The commission approved a similar application for Dominic Santoro of San Francisco for commercial property at 1807 Junipero Serra Boulevard.

A request to rezone from single family to apartments property on Hillside Boulevard between Bismark and East Moltke Streets was granted for V. F. DeSouza of 611 Hillside Boulevard.

DeSouza told the commission the property is located between two existing apartment zones.

The commission denied a request from Corriveau Enterprises of 3 Oakridge Drive in Daly City to establish apartment zoning on property on the east side of Rio Verde Street north of Geneva Avenue.

A spokesman said the firm planned to build apartments on the property, which is located between single family homes and commercial districts.

The spokesman added that it would be good planning to blend apartments with the single family homes and the commercial development. He said the area needs apartments.

Commissioner McRobert Stewart argued that the property should remain single family until the entire portion of the block could be zoned for apartments at one time.

In other action, the commission:

Approved a revocable use permit to West Coast Advertising Company to erect another billboard sign on the corner of Junipero Serra Boulevard and Citrus Avenue.

Gladioux Is Given Leave Of Absence

Pacifica's Chamber of Commerce manager, Basil Gladioux, has been granted a two-month leave of absence while he runs for City Council, the chamber's board of directors announced this week.

A terse public statement signed by President Mario Torrigino said "the board of directors of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting granted Manager Basil Gladioux a two-month leave of absence without pay."

"This decision, which was not unanimous, was brought about by Gladioux filing for election to the City Council."

Torrigno said that during the two months, Gladioux will continue to work for the chamber on a volunteer basis on projects he currently is involved in — such as the Miss Pacifica contest and the preparation of maps and brochures.

Torrigno declined to comment on the board's action. While no decision was made by the board on whether Gladioux could keep his job if he is elected to the council, most observers believe that if elected Gladioux would be asked to resign.

Gladioux said later that while he felt there was no conflict of interest, he believed the chamber board was concerned that the public would think Gladioux as a candidate was sponsored and endorsed by the chamber.

Mrs. Pauline Finerty said some parents had been considering a "mother's traffic march," but hadn't worked out details.

Police Chief John Fabbri advised the mothers to use this demonstration cautiously, if at all. Directing traffic, he said, would violate a state law. If the mothers merely march back and forth across the pedestrian walkway, he assured them, they will have all the legal status of any other pedestrian.

TOP AIDES' REQUEST

Pacifica Rejects Mid-Year Raises

Pacifica city councilmen rejected a request from police sergeants, fire department captains and other supervisory personnel for mid-year pay raises last week, but agreed to pay firemen overtime for working beyond regular shifts and for call back time.

Councilmen in rejecting a request from police sergeants, fire department captains, the building inspector and the superintendent of streets, concurred in a recommendation of the city's personnel advisory commission.

The employees had asked that their $685 monthly salaries be increased to $715.

Councilmen, however, said no funds had been budgeted for increases and promised the matter would be taken up during budget studies later this year.

The council approved a lengthy policy for paying firemen, who now work 57½ hours a week, for overtime and for increased payments to volunteer firemen.

Noting the increasing number of complaints of dogs running loose on city streets, councilmen agreed to request the Peninsula Humane Society, which provides the city with pound services, to clamp down and impound dogs running loose in violation of a city ordinance.

The city attorney was instructed to check the possibility of checking the city's garbage collection ordinance after Ronald Root, operator of the Valle-Mar Supermarket, complained that recently developed incinerators allow markets to burn wet garbage without obnoxious odors or fumes.

Markets are now required to contract with a local scavenger company to remove all wet garbage.

An agreement was approved with the Coastside Scavenger Company to operate a fill and cover dump back of the Linda Mar area donated by the Oddstad Development Company to the city.

The dump site will eventually be developed into a municipal park.

Rams Place 3 Players On All-NPL

Ocean's center, senior Larry Kincaid, rounded out the first team.

Forward John Price was the third Ram and only other junior named to the team. He was sixth in league scoring.

The other Westmoor player and only other junior named by the coaches was forward John Price, selected for the second team. He was sixth in league scoring.

The only repeat from last year's selections was Ocean's playmaking captain, Dave Breazelle, named again to the second team.

Senior Gary Mendoza also was named to the second team. He had to sit out last season because of a technicality. He led the Jefferson scorers with 129 points and was fifth in the league.

El Camino's tall, lanky Brock MacLaren was named to the center slot on the second team. Terra Nova's rebounding forward, Marty Coll, the only Terra Nova selected.

Receiving honorable mentions were Larry Siegal of Westmoor, Steve Willis, Bob Jones and Bob Molossi of Jefferson, Jim Smith and Hank Degenais of Terra Nova, Randy Willis of El Camino and Ron Benetti of South San Francisco.

D.C. PACIFICA

Trade Approved By County Unit

A proposed land trade between Daly City and Pacifica was approved last week by the county's Land Agency Formation Commission.

The only remaining legal step is formal approval by the Daly City Council.

The land trade, which has been discussed sporadically for three years, will give Pacifica a 33-acre triangular shaped parcel of land at the junction of Edgemar Freeway and Skyline Boulevard in exchange for a 67-acre parcel adjacent to Daly City's Belcrest Avenue between the Pacific Ocean and Edgemar Freeway.

Included in the 67 acres going to Daly City is Franklin Delano Roosevelt Elementary School.

The land trade had been held up while owners of the property, the Henry Doelger Corporation, negotiated with the Pacifica City Council to include three acres south of the 67-acre parcel in the trade—making the Edgemar Freeway the natural boundary between Daly City and Pacifica.

Doelger offered to bring into Pacifica 644 acres just south of Pacifica's boundaries if the 33 acres were given to Daly City. The offer would have opened the door for Pacifica to annex 2,400 acres in the area.

Pacifica councilmen felt, however, that the 644 acres would eventually come into the city anyway.

Chapman Honored

He is an officer of the Daly City-Colma Lions Club and represented the Daly City Toastmasters Club in the Area 5 serious and humorous speech contests last year.

Upon accepting the award from Longhetti, Chapman said he was doubly honored because of the other people who were nominated.

"When I heard their names, I thought for sure I'd be at the bottom of the list."

Others who spoke included Jaycee President Pete Trapanese and Daly City Mayor Michael DeBarnardi.

Fox Remains As Planner

After the personnel session with Fox, the council reaffirmed the city's policy not to prejudice matters coming before city officials.

Fox, according to informed sources, told councilmen he had been misquoted. However, in response to a question from the Post-Times reporter on what he had been misquoted, he declined comment.

County Can't Refund Home Permit Funds

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors has refused to refund approximately $8,000 to Westborough Homes for 39 unused building permits.

The building sites have been sold to another builder and new permits must now be obtained from South San Francisco, which has annexed the area.

The county had provided all services in connection with the permits — except for actual construction inspection.

District Attorney Keith Sorenson told the supervisors that there was no legal provision for refunds.

The home sites were sold to American Housing Guild, which wants to build different styled houses on the lots, according to Michael Callan of Westborough Homes.

S.S.F. Man Not Cited

A South San Francisco man whose truck crushed an 8-year-old boy to death last week in San Francisco was not cited by police.

No charges were placed against Albert E. Hicks, of 753 Hemlock Street, South San Francisco, an unknown participant in the death of Michael Eisenman, 8, of San Francisco.

Police said the boy tried to hitch a ride on Hicks' heavy lumber truck and was crushed under the rear wheels.

The driver heard the impact and stopped after going 20 feet on a downhill grade.

Six persons were hurt in a three-car accident on Junipero Serra Boulevard near Colma Saturday night.

Highway patrolmen said a car driven by William A. Harm, 55, of San Francisco, became disabled.

WINDOW BROKEN
Leocina Bulatoe of 74 Mar Vista Drive, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that someone had shot BB's through her kitchen window.

The Freeway in Daly City

A PREVIEW of what the Junipero Serra Freeway will look like in Daly City is indicated in this artist's conception. The sketch depicts the depressed freeway, looking north from the vicinity of School Street. Existing Junipero Serra Boulevard is shown above the freeway, passing in front of the Mayfair Market at 2350 Junipero Serra. Bids will be opened in Sacramento today for the construction of a 2.6-mile section of the freeway from a point south of Eastmoor Avenue to east of Orizaba Avenue in San Francisco. A three-level interchange is planned at Knowles Avenue, Alemany Boulevard and Junipero Serra. Construction is scheduled to be completed in May of 1966.

DEATHS

Roy A. Heist, Noted Taxidermist, Dies at 84

Roy A. Heist, 84, who lived at 480 Westlake Avenue, Daly City, and practiced in San Francisco as a taxidermist, voodoo merchant and sometime "witch doctor," died last Wednesday at St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco.

Heist gained fame during more than 40 years in his career by his unusual garb and bizarre business.

The stirring shock of white hair that capped his stiff collar, silk cravat and diamond stickpin resembled a nineteenth century banker.

Heist styled himself the oldest taxidermist in the country. In his studio at 1791 Mission Street, he mounted thousands of animals—some of which he had trapped himself as a youth in his native Pennsylvania—expertly restored art objects and sold an eerie assortment of voodoo merchandise.

He stocked such items as tiger claws, elephant hairs, pigs' teeth, snake eyes, bats' blood and green turtles' blood. For the real aficionados, he kept scalps from redheaded woodpeckers, fresh male deer blood and white rooster eyes.

Heist termed some of his customers "crazy nuts" and was fond of asking them, "How many red-headed witch doctors do you know?"

Heist lived at 480 Westlake Avenue, Daly City. He had no known survivors.

JOSEPH L. PIAZZA

Joseph L. Piazza, 63, of 3229 San Jose Avenue, Daly City, was buried in Italian Cemetery in San Francisco last week.

Piazza died a week ago at home of a heart attack after a family festival for the christening of a grand-nephew.

He was a veteran Mission Street jitney driver. He is survived by his wife, Rose, a son, George, four grandchildren and three brothers.

MAYNARD H. HUGHES

Maynard H. Hughes, 48, of 432 Yellowstone Drive, South San Francisco, died at Kaiser Foundation Emergency Hospital after a sudden illness at his home.

He was a native of Modesto, proprietor of the M. H. Hughes meat market equipment company, and had lived in this area for four years.

He was a member of Park Masonic Lodge, and the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

Survivors include his wife, Janet; three sons, Robert, Donald and Jeffrey, all of South San Francisco; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hughes, Norwalk, and four brothers, Donald, Novato; Gene, Petaluma; James, Santa Maria; and Foster, Norwalk.

Funeral services were held Monday from Larson Garden Chapel.

AXEL SUNDEBERG

Axel Sundberg, 82, 156 Southwood Center, South San Francisco, was found dead last week in his apartment. He was a native of Sweden, and had lived in South San Francisco for five years.

He was a retired carpenter. Survivors include three sons, Walter and Lloyd, San Francisco, and Howard, Burlingame; a brother, Alfred, of Sweden, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Thursday from Larson Garden Chapel, with interment in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

Land Report Is Received

The Pacifica City Council Wednesday took the following actions:

Acknowledged receipt of an interim land use evaluation plan, and referred the plan to planning commissioners.

Received a request from the Eureka Square Merchants' Association asking that Kidwell Drive, access street to the square, be changed to Eureka Drive and from Rockaway residents that Hewitt Drive be changed to Rockaway Drive.

Approved subdivision changes in the Fairmont area so the new Bethlehem Lutheran Church on Hickey Boulevard can add four sites for parking and construct a steeple above the normal maximum.

Agreed to place a 10-minute parking zone around headquarters of the local water district to allow patrons parking time to pay their bills.

Several appointments to fill vacancies in various commissions were postponed to next Wednesday, however.

Bicycles to Be Inspected

The Daly City Police Department will conduct the third in a series of bicycle safety and registration programs from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at George Washington School.

Saturday's program will be co-sponsored by the school's P-TA. A registration fee of 50 cents will be charged.

Jeff Windows Smashed; Damage Totals $2000

Vandals embarked upon a window-breaking spree at Jefferson High School over the weekend, Daly City police reported.

Damage totaled more than $2,000.

Sometime early Saturday morning, the vandals threw garbage cans through five classroom windows and two special plate glass windows in the school library.

The classroom windows were replaced. Then, sometime Sunday night, four of these windows again were smashed, police said.

All the rooms are in the school's new academic building, which opened last September.

Jefferson High School District Superintendent Edward Morgan reported that the glass in the library windows was of a special type and would have to be ordered from a company in the East.

S.S.F. Planners Approve Motel Signs, Office Plan

South San Francisco's planners have granted the city's newest motel permission to erect two signs on their property at 222 South Airport Boulevard.

The signs are to face Airport. Seven other sign requests sought by the "Imperial 400" motel were held over.

The motel, a new structure between Airport and Bayshore Freeway overpass, would be visible from the freeway, and some of the signs would have faced it.

The planners granted a use permit for John F. Donnellan for an office and parking lot at 609 Orange Avenue, and a variance to allow Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Rourke to encroach into the rear-yard setback at 537 Diamond Avenue.

Held over for better plans, or due to technicalities, were rezoning requests from American Guild Homes at Westborough, variance requests by William Botieff and Emmett Blincoe for four-unit apartments on Grand and Commercial Avenues; and a variance sought by Donald Krow for a rear yard encroachment at 284 Southcliff Drive.

A request of See's Candies for a use permit to expand their facilities at 210 El Camino Real was held over, after the firm reported it is meeting with neighbors at Francisco Terrace regarding the back fence line.

AIR CLEANER STOLEN
Alan Wallock of 101 Palmer Street, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that an air cleaner had been stolen from his auto.

GEE, HERE kite season's just about ended and we've yet to write a thing about it.

But that's how it is with kite and marble and yo-yo and top seasons—they erupt without notice and disappear without reason.

Kids seem to have a built-in timing and learning system that tells them when to start and stop these seasons and teaches them the unwritten rules and skills of the games, which they somehow manage to acquire without the overt help of parents or older brothers and sisters.

Some of our fondest memories are connected with kites—the feeling of adventure and creativity in making your own out of water and mother's flour and dad's front page and the only yardstick in the house.

And the fun of hearing dad's new repertoire of curse words, and the shock of hearing mom curse at all and the thrill of beating it out the back door and using the neighbor's prize flowerbed as a runway, and having mom's best twine snap at 500 feet and seeing the kite crash into a telephone wire. And then starting again, undaunted, like the Wright Brothers.

WE NOW HAVE a new generation of kite-flyers. They're smaller kids than yesteryear. They don't know they have to be 10 to be flight pioneers. They're kids who use store-bought kites and, heaven forbid, some store-boughts made out of indestructible plastic.

Half the fun of kite-flying is watching them crash and break up like Richard Arlen's World War I jobs.

Kites have been big in this area since a seeming change in weather filtered in less fog and builders thought of off-street power-line parking.

Used to be if kids did manage to see their kites through the mist, they saw them only hung up on telephone poles.

A few weeks back, kites were riddling the skies around here. Why, some of them were higher than a man.

This season's kite-world sensation, as previously hinted, is the plastic kite, which gets up faster and stays up easier and higher than the conventional paper kite.

Their ease of operation may explain the sudden rash of little kid pilots—which may account for the short season, this year.

One advantage of the plastic kite (if you can call it an advantage) is that these jobs don't break up.

Well, a couple of weeks ago the wind was really whipping around here for a few days and the little kids wouldn't let go of their new unyielding plastic kites, and, well... more tiny tots got flying lessons...

WE HATE to pick on Alvin Dark because maybe the guy is just accident-prone—quote-wise.

But one thing about him, he keeps us provided with column material.

All we do is check the dailies for Alvin's quotes.

Like recently, according to a Bay Area daily, Alvin said that the Giants were going to have the strongest pitching staff in the spring exhibition loop.

But maybe Alvin, like Casey Stengel, just says those things to lay a smoke screen for his other problems—like the infield.

The way we figure it, the Giants will have to have superb pitching and set slugging records to make up for a question mark infield featuring a rookie (Jimmy Hart) who's never been known for his glove at third, an ordinary shortstop (Jose Pagan), and a made-over third baseman (Jimmy Davenport) at second.

Not to mention that Willie McCovey will have to hit .350 to give the Giants a net gain on his RBI's over Willie's RAWWTD (runs allowed wondering what to do) in left field.

What will probably happen, Davenport will wind up at third, Hiller at second, and Harvey Kuenn somewhere in the lineup.

Which makes us wonder why Dark doesn't start with his proven best first, get off to as quick a start as possible while in the meantime smoothing his rookies in under less pressure, and not sacrifice those early season games, which for some reason managers never seem to think are as important as the "stretch run" games—even though they all count equally in final standings.

Either that, or teach his pitchers to make all opponents hit to center field.

WHILE ON the subject of youth, only a new team, such as Houston, can afford to go completely with a total youth program—simply because fans usually don't expect too much of a new team, especially one with nothing but kids.

The management can, in the meantime, keep reassuring the fans that it's building a future team of greats.

And it can hope the fans don't remember Branch Rickey's total youth movement in the early 1950s at Pittsburgh, which produced only one pennant (1960) and many, many lasts.

The unit system youth movement just doesn't seem to work.

The Yankees do it best, always adding, it seems, an impressive rookie or two a year—never seeming to basically change the roster. Until you scan it one day and realize it's virtually a new team from the one of six or seven years before.

CSM Matmen Lose Title

The College of San Mateo wrestling team relinquished its Golden Gate Conference wrestling title to Chabot-Saltos, at the GGC finals in Los Altos, 177 pounds, defeated Foothill's Denny Bendel in the finals and Walt Wenger, still hampered by a foot injury, lost out in the finals to Oakland's Jim Porter on a pin.

The Bulldogs managed to garner two individual championship places. Undeclared Alf Haerem, 177 pounds, defeated Foothill's Denny Bendel in the finals and Don Smothers upset San Jose's Dick Vaughn in the 115-pound division.

Champ Rams Barely Edge Colts

SEASON FINALE

Mason Sinks Free Throws

Westmoor High School's basketballing Rams, champions of the North Peninsula League, added a little more glitter to their diadem and got one tremendous tuneup for the upcoming Peninsula Basketball Tournament Friday night.

Clinching victory with but two seconds remaining on two clutch free-throws from Jim Mason, the Daly City School staved off a fine come-from-behind effort by El Camino to defeat the second place Colts, 58-56, on the loser's floor.

S.S.F. Turns Tables, Tops Terra Nova

South San Francisco High School's basketball team wrote an end to their 1964 North Peninsula League campaign Friday night with an avenging 66-55 conquest of the Terra Nova Tigers on the South San Francisco court.

The victory brought an end to a season that had figured the Warriors for obscurity. Instead, Joe Schroeder's underdogs fought their way to three upsets, playing the role of spoilers.

South San Francisco handed the repeating champion Westmoor Rams their sole loss of the season and also stifled El Camino.

Another starter, a Warrior triumph over the Jefferson Indians, was awarded to the Daly City Tribe last week after Jefferson's formal protest was upheld.

South San Francisco's starting five served notice on the visitors right from the start Friday night that they would be no part of a Tiger repeat performance.

The Warriors moved the ball around well in the opening period and jumped out in front to an eight point edge at the end of the quarter.

The Warriors boosted that lead to 11 points at the end of the first half behind the long set shot scoring of Ron Benetti and sophomore sensation Greg Jones' buckets.

Both hit for 11 points apiece in the opening half while Terra Nova's Jim Smith, who tanked 23 points all told, picked up 14 of those in the first half.

South San Francisco held a 49-37 command at the three-quarter mark despite the sharp shooting of Smith, Marty Coil and Hank Daganais.

The same trio pulled the Tigers to within nine points of the hosts early in the fourth quarter and cut the Warriors' lead to nine points again with 3:35 showing on the clock.

However, Benetti, Larry Cervelli, and Ron Raney stifled the late rally, as they sank nine points in the time remaining.

Colts' Harris Wins Scoring Title in NPL

El Camino's Walt Harris came up with 24 points last week in a losing 56-56 encounter with the championship Westmoor Rams to take the North Peninsula League scoring title for 1964.

His nearest competitor was Westmoor's Jim Mason, with 162 points.

Harris came within one basket of tying the NPL record of 172 set by Westmoor's John Kelly, the league's Most Valuable Player in 1963.

Both Harris and Mason had the same number of free throws, but the El Camino sharp shooter hit 64 field goals as compared to Mason's 60 baskets.

Oceana's Dave Breazeale had led the league in scoring until two weeks ago when Harris moved up to the top slot with a 16-point output against the Sharks.

The following week, Mason hit for 22 against Jefferson to take the lead.

The top ten scorers and their averages were:

Player	G	F	T
Harris (EC)	64	42	170
Mason (WM)	60	42	162
Jones (SS)	56	31	143
Breazeale (O)	47	41	135
Mendoza (J)	31	35	128
Price (W)	53	19	125
Kinkade (O)	48	29	125
Smith (TW)	46	33	125
MacLaren (EC)	39	44	122
Daganais	38	35	111

Jay Wilkinson averaged 5.39 on 117 carries for Duke's football team in 1963. He scored 12 touchdowns.

The contest was the last of the NPL season for both clubs. El Camino's diminutive Walt Harris retained some of the glory for the Steeds, however, in pumping home 24 points to win the North Peninsula League individual scoring title with a 170-162 bulge over second place Mason (the gentleman that wrapped up Friday night's contest with the free throws) who tallied 18 in this final game of the regular season.

It is ironic that Harris, who led the Colts on a dramatic fourth period rally that barely fell short, (he scored 11 points in that stanza) was the player who fouled Mason and set up the last second finish.

It is also ironic that Westmoor charity tosses should be the deciding points. The Rams played the entire game in dire foul trouble and finished the game with 19 fouls among their starting five.

Going into the second period, Westmoor was still very much in command as they bottled the loser's offense with an effective zone defense and coasted on the shooting of Mason and Price.

After earning a 31-26 half time edge, the Rams boosted it to 47-39 after three and it looked to be downhill for the visitors from there on out.

It was here, however, that the Colts made their move. Finally solving the Ram zone by overloading was one factor, but Harris was the other.

The NPL scoring king suddenly got hot and after Mike Ebert scored four points at the start of the fourth period, Harris tallied 11 straight and the house went wild.

Four times the Colts caught their tormenters in that frantic fourth, but each time the winners moved ahead again until finally the Colts knotted things once again at 56-56 on a Randy Willis lay-up with 0:15 remaining.

The Rams came down court and took four shots at the bucket with a mass scramble for each rebound ensuing before Harris fouled Mason with 0:02 left to make for the dramatic ending.

DON BELLOUMINI of Holy Angels goes up for a layup in preliminary action with St. Thomas More in the Knights of Columbus tournament held last week at the War Memorial Community Center. St. Thomas More went on to win the tournament in the final by downing Our Lady of Mercy 29-21, breaking a four-year stranglehold the Daly City Club held. Holy Angels was edged in the consolation game by Our Lady of Perpetual Help, 23-22. Rick Grosse, center of St. Thomas More, led his team with 14 points in the final with OLM to win the Most Valuable Player award.

Indians Roll Past Sharks

It was cold on the outside, but extremely warm on the inside of the Jefferson High School gym Friday as temperatures rose to boiling points in the Indians' 62-49 victory over Oceana.

A close game suddenly broke open when a fight between Indian forward Ed Larios and Shark forward Ted Brodd broke out at the end of the third quarter.

It was quickly broken up. Jefferson closed out its 1964 North Peninsula League campaign in third place with a 5-5 record. Oceana lost the battle for third place and had to be content with fourth spot and a 4-6 mark.

The Indians moved to an early 11-3 lead in the first quarter as Larios and Bob Molossi blanketed both boards.

Oceana went into a full court press with two minutes remaining and Coach Rich Warner's strategy paid off as the Sharks only trailed the Indians by one, 13-12, as the buzzer sounded.

Substitute guard Al Stoller replaced an injured Tom Houston, and his eight point output in the second quarter kept the Indians just a step ahead of Oceana. The hosts left the floor at intermission with a 25-22 lead.

Jump shot by Gary Mendoza after three minutes of play in the second half started the scoring, and the Indians began to widen the gap as when the fisticuffs broke out.

Even the normally "always cool" Oceana captain Dave Breazeale lost his composure and was slapped with a technical, when he questioned an official's call.

Jeff Protest Is Upheld

The Jefferson Indians' protest of a loss to South San Francisco February 14 on the Warriors' court has been upheld by North Peninsula League Commissioner Owen Kashevaroff.

He ruled the game a forfeit in Jefferson's favor. The Indians claimed that a San Francisco State College student had tended the game clock in the waning moments of the contest. League regulations say faculty members must tend the clock.

Six Teams Undefeated As Season Nears Windup

Here is a review of action last week in basketball leagues sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department:

Todd Stevenson almost won the game single-handedly in the scoring department with eight points. Howie Kaplan tanked a free throw to account for the Buccaneers total.

In the wake of the Buccaneers are the second place PAL Jaguars who ripped up the Holy Angels Hotshots in a 13-6 ball game. Tim Buckley was high for the Jags with four points. Th Jags held the Hotshots to only two points in the first half.

Phil Dupont sparked the Warriors in a fourth quarter surge that evened up the score. Larry Nannini and Chuck Gervethy were the bright lights in the overtime.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

I THINK most of us use tuna in casseroles while salmon is usually reserved for croquettes and such. So when my friend, Mrs. Kay Matlock of 556 South El Camino Real, San Mateo, gave me this recipe I was most grateful.

SALMON NOODLE CASSEROLE

- 1 pound can salmon
- 2 cups medium, white sauce
- 1 small package egg noodles
- 1 cup cracker or bread crumbs
- 2 Tbsp. butter
- salt and pepper

Heat flaked salmon in white sauce. Cook noodles in boiling water. Drain and pour noodles into a buttered casserole dish. Cover with the creamed salmon. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with crumbs and dot with the butter. Place in 375-degree oven for 15 minutes or until crumbs are nicely browned.

MEDIUM WHITE SAUCE

- 2 Tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 Tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Melt butter, blend in flour until smooth. Add milk gradually stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Reduce heat and cook for three minutes longer; add seasonings and blend.

SINCE WE are talking about fish and we are still in the middle of Lent, I'll pass on a recipe that comes from the potato growers up Oregon way.

Needless to say, this recipe uses potatoes and, to keep with the fishy theme of the column, tuna fish.

SCALLOPED POTATOES WITH TUNA

- 4 medium potatoes
- 2 cups milk
- 2 Tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 Tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- A few grains of pepper
- 7-ounce can chunk tuna, flaked
- 1/2 cup onions, thinly sliced

Steam potatoes in a half to two-thirds cup water for 15 minutes. Drain and cool, reserving potato water. Add to potato water enough milk to make two cups. Melt butter or margarine over low heat. Stir in flour, mustard, salt and pepper. Add milk all at once and stir until smooth. Bring to boil, stirring constantly.

In two-quart casserole, lightly greased, arrange thinly sliced potatoes in alternate layers with tuna and onion. Pour sauce over all. Bake covered at 350-degrees for 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking 10 to 15 minutes longer or until browned. Serves six.

AS YOU CAN imagine, a food editor receives a great many recipes, advertisements and such from various companies. All the recipes are tried and tested and, naturally, use the senders' products exclusively. Well I don't mention brand names but I can pass this idea along to you as a good one indeed.

SPICY CUPLETS

- 1 package spice cake mix
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 cup chocolate pieces
- 1 Tablespoon sugar

Prepare cake mix as directed on package and spoon into paper-lined muffin cups, filling cups a half to two-thirds full. Combine nuts, chocolate pieces and sugar. Sprinkle over batter. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 24 to 30 cupcakes.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

AMONG Westlake's proudest parents are Mr. and Mrs. Morris Golub of Westmoor Avenue, and, if they occasionally brag a little about their daughter, Nancy, it is for a very good reason. Nancy is also basking in the warmth of the glowing praise afforded her by the New York art critics!

The reason for recent jubilation was the response to Miss Golub's show in Mexico City last month. The showing was held in the Gallery "Saloncito VIII" at the University of the Americas and consisted of 50 etchings and graphic drawings and 15 oils and plastics, all reflecting the influence of the Humanist trend in modern art. The critics, in their highly complimentary appraisals of her work, described it as "heavy and brutal in outline with a strong attempt to attain a sense of motion... the faces are sometimes suggestive of the peasants in the work of Millet."

Golub was able to be on hand when the show opened and to share with his daughter the thrill of her success. Fifteen of her paintings sold the first two days of the show. He toured Mexico with her, inspecting the work of other artists and enjoying the beauties of Mexican culture.

AMERICAN culture and art was judged by an eminent panel of experts at a recent dance given by the Amnity Seal Rock Lodge of the Masonic Order and Cindy Lou Johnson of Westlake was judged most proficient in the art of the Twist and awarded a sampling of British culture, in the form of a recording of the Beatles, as reward for her artistic talent.

IN OTHER NEWS of a youthful nature, extreme pleasure was voiced by Joseph Forbes, leader of the YMCA Indian Guide program in the three Bay Areas, last week following the very successful "Get Acquainted Council" held at Abraham Lincoln School.

According to Forbes, approximately 50 prospective Little Braves and their fathers were on hand for the meeting directed by Steven Kropog, chief of San Mateo County's Deer Nation. Boys enter the Indian Guide program somewhere between the ages of 5 and 7 and continue until they graduate into the Gray Feather movement, usually about the time they reach the age of nine.

Though fewer boys and fathers were on hand for the Get Acquainted Council held in Pacifica the week previous, Forbes said leaders of the movement were pleased and hope to establish two or three new tribes in that area and perhaps nine new groups in the Daly City region.

Parents who are interested in learning more about the YMCA's Indian Guide program are urged to contact the local Indian Agent, Russell Fredrick, PL 5-8337 or Forbes at the YMCA headquarters in San Francisco, TU 5-0460.

The program promotes father and son participation in crafts, sports and learning programs at meetings held in the homes of tribal members. For this reason, Forbes explained, tribes are kept small so that every home is capable of hosting an occasional meeting.

NEWS THAT fabulous prizes are to be awarded during the finale of the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish Festival was made public this week by the festival's publicity director, Mrs. Dorothy P. Bergin.

The festival, always a delightful success, will be held on May 15, 16 and 17 and patrons of the event will be eligible to win either the $2,000 first prize, the second prize of $500, the third prize of $250 or the $100 fourth prize, Mrs. Bergin has announced.

O. Walter Mignault is general chairman of this year's festival and George Calegari is the co-chairman.

According to Mrs. Bergin the festival is held each year in order to raise money for the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish Improvement Fund and is always one of the largest benefit programs sponsored by the parish.

Persons interested in making donations to the fund may do so by contacting Mrs. Edward Nolan of 64 Shakespeare Street.

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters will continue the study of the state constitution when the members meet tomorrow evening in the home of Mrs. Edward Berry, 56 Parkwood Drive.

Mrs. Esther Eller, one of those who will be helping to lead the discussion, has announced that the group will consider the organization of the state legislature, committee assignments and committee structure as well as legislative procedures and rules.

A coffee hour, beginning at 7:45 p.m. will precede the meeting.

All interested women in this area are invited to attend and anyone wishing to arrange for transportation may do so by calling Mrs. Berry at WY 2-0153.

THE DRIVE to collect rummage for the Wesley Methodist Church's rummage sale will continue through the coming week, according to Mrs. Antonette Hersom, representative of the congregational committee in charge of the sale.

According to Mrs. Hersom, all types of clothing, white elephants, books and appliances are needed. Anyone wishing to contribute may arrange to have items collected by phoning Mrs. William Abbey, sale chairman, PL 6-9426 or the publicity chairman Mrs. Pearl McGlaughlin, WY 2-1320. Mrs. Edward Wolfe, wife of the pastor, will also take calls concerning rummage at PL 5-1230.

According to Mrs. Hersom the committee headed by Mrs. Abbey has succeeded in obtaining a quantity of new bedspreads, boys' jeans and toys in addition to the many "almost new" things which will be on sale in store 21 in the St. Francis Square Shopping Center on March 14 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on March 15 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

THE FRIENDS of the Library will begin the work of pricing the books being collected for the Daly City chapter's Book Fair next week according to Mrs. Lionell Farber, fair chairman.

Gathering in the Farber home to mark the hard cover books, children's stories, National Geographic and paper back editions will be Mrs. Thomas Brewer, Mrs. Herbert Weiner, Mrs. Vinton Stratton, Mrs. Frank Specht, Mrs. U. R. Kendree and Mrs. Julian Cohn.

Missing Duo Found Dead On Coastside

A Brisbane housewife and a young ex-Marine are the latest victims of treacherous Devil's Slide South of Pacifica.

Their bodies were taken off the face of the precipitous cliff Saturday afternoon where they had lain for three weeks un-noticed after their car had plunged off of Cabrillo highway.

The body of James E. Dunn, 25, no known address, was found near the wreckage of the auto some 700 feet below the roadway.

The body of Mrs. Bettie Hogerheiden, a 43-year-old mother of three, was found about midway between that spot and the edge of the cliff, snagged on some rocks.

Frank Hogerheiden, a carpenter, of 233 Sierra Point road, Brisbane, had reported his wife missing February 9.

He told police that she and Dunn were probably together. They had gone off together once before, Hogerheiden said.

The bodies were discovered Saturday afternoon by Lee Sterios, 18, of San Francisco, as he walked along the beach at the southern end of the slide area.

Neither the car nor the bodies could be seen from the roadway at top. The bodies were removed by Pacifica and Half Moon Bay firemen.

The victims were last seen, according to Deputy Coroner Robert Cole, by Dunn's brother, Larry, who said they had gone on a midnight drive down Cabrillo Highway.

Larry said he was driving ahead of his brother's car when the headlights disappeared behind. He said the possibility of an accident did not occur to him.

Hogerheiden, however, said he had a premonition that something might have happened at Devil's Slide.

He drove along the stretch of the highway, he said, and checked with Pacifica police to see if any accidents had been reported.

Cole was identified by his Marine serial number, which was tattooed on his right shoulder above a panther.

Terra Nova Topics

By CATHIE REED

TRIBUTE must be paid to all those who merit it, occasionally, if for no other reason than to keep the rest of us humble. We hate to do it, but we must admit that some people are better than most in some ways.

The academic wonders of Terra Nova show of the rest of the Jefferson Union High School District how outstanding our scholastic rating is. These seniors, with the help of brilliant teachers and their fellow classmates, have shown, we believe, Terra Nova to be the best school in the district, scholastically, even if we're not so hot in some sports.

Even before completing their senior year, seven students have received life membership in C.S.F. Two seniors—Cathie Reed and Sandy Kester—have already been awarded $400 scholarships to San Francisco College for Women, and Hilltop Beauty College, respectively. Ten seniors have received awards for excellence in their major fields by the Bank of America.

And Sandy Shade, greatest of them all, was announced as a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program, the greatest honor of all. Only a half of 1 per cent become finalists in this program of all those participating—approximately 13,000. Applicants are judged on two tests and a comprehensive application. Congratulations, Sandy!

THE NEW SEMESTER is starting off with a bang for several clubs.

Those members of Tau Omega who have 25 points or more for participating in tournaments have become members of the National Forensic League, the official name for the national speech club.

Committee heads for Girls' League have been selected. They are: Karen Taylor, friendship and hospitality; Sandy Shade and Jeannie Rogers, Social; Janet Wright and Cathy Booth, ways and means; Sandy Reynolds, welfare; and Jeannie Halcomb, publicity.

Veteran S.S.F. Officials to Step Down

VINCENT BIANCHINI

EDWARD KAUFFMANN

They'll End 90 Years

By GEORGE GOLDING

Two of South San Francisco's "old-timers" will leave public service this spring—ending careers that total 90 years between them.

One of them, Treasurer Edward P. Kauffmann, brought about his retirement through the simple step of not filing as a candidate for re-election to the job he has held 50 years. His current four-year term ends April 21.

The other, Police Sgt. Vincent Bianchini, will retire ten days later at the end of 40 years and two weeks of policing the city.

Their plans for the future are partially the same. "Gamba" Bianchini, stout and hearty at 63, plans hunting, fishing, and some traveling.

Kauffmann, at 81, a man who has been around the world twice and who has crossed the Atlantic 10 times, says he will travel.

He recalls trips up the Nile, and the Mississippi. He remembers crossing Africa from Cairo to Capetown on an 87-day jaunt in 1937, and visiting South America.

"I guess I'll be taking a trip to Holy Cross one of these days," he chuckles, wryly indicating that he takes a realistic view of his years.

It is in remembering those years past in which the stories of the two men diverge.

A Different S.S.F.

SERGEANT VINCENT BIANCHINI remembers a different South San Francisco than Ed Kauffmann does.

He recalls being shot at.

He recalls tramping through the willow brakes in search of murderers, and hiding out in darkened stores waiting for armed burglars. He detests drinking women.

"The public should go out with us on patrol," he comments, "it's disgusting."

THE SERGEANT is not yet at enforced retirement age, but he figures it is time to get out.

He seems more proud that his son, Vincent Jr., is a highway patrolman, than of his own record.

He wants you to know that his wife's name is "Emma," and that working under Police Chief John Fabbri "has been a pleasure. He treats you like a white man." Other officers in the department consider "Gambo" (which means "legs" in Italian), a "good policeman."

THEY REMIND YOU that he once chased an armed murderer through the willows where Mayfair Village subdivision now stands, and that he was in the murderer's sunshirts.

"He told me later that he didn't shoot because I had been good to him," says Bianchini. "I was within four feet of him but he was in a hole covered up with willow brush."

The sergeant and Police Chief Louis Belloni had chased the man into the brush after the gunman had shot a woman he believed had stolen the affections of his wife.

"He was later recognized in Nevada, where he was running for election as justice of the peace."

BIANCHINI recalls his first duty, starting in 1924, as a three-man police force on the job 24 hours a day.

"The chief took the day watch," he recalls, and "slept in the station over there under city hall. A fellow named Walter Miller took the swing."

"I took the graveyard shift. I wasn't married, and who cares when you're young?"

"When a call came in, you turned out."

"You did everything. Thank God, I was big and powerful. In those days you had to handle everything yourself."

Treasurer Since 1914

EDWARD P. KAUFFMANN, a farm boy from Sebastopol, came to South San Francisco in 1896.

"That was after the panic of 1893," he explained.

"Grover Cleveland had free trade then, no tariffs. Everybody was shipping things in. A farmer could ship his crops to San Francisco, and have to pay to have them dumped. Shortly after that, he went to work for the Western Meat Company, which later became Swift & Company."

He worked 14 years for the Steiger Pottery firm, and just following the turn of the century he and his brother, Al, were in the drayage business together.

IN 1914, he became city treasurer. The city, then, he recalls, had not yet built its famed city hall as a replica of Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

There were "four or five thousand people," and a one-man police force.

Kauffmann joined the Improved Order of Redmen, became Master of the Francis rake Masonic Lodge, was a member of the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Manufacturers Association.

In 1930, he made his first trip around the world.

He got married, and bought a house at 514 Grand Avenue. His wife was also active in local organizations, and at one time headed the South San Francisco Woman's Club.

IN 1933, Kauffmann was on the trip to South America when President Roosevelt took office and declared a bank holiday to straighten out the country's depression monetary problems.

Kauffmann was called back to become president of the South San Francisco Bank. When that firm became part of Crocker-Anglo, he was named a vice president.

In 1950, he got special permission from the City Council to take a world tour, an the job of assistant treasurer was created.

Taking that job was John Bonalanza, the man Kauffmann has nominated as his successor.

IN 1952, he and Walter Cribbins donated an $800 toy wagon to the Shriners' Hospital in San Francisco.

During those years, he has donated his city salary to charity.

Although he retired from Crocker-Citizens' after 25 years of service, he still maintains a desk there, and keeps working hours of 10 to 11:30 a.m. Afternoons, he is "hard to find," and Thursday is Rotary day, so he is "out."

Mental Health Center Funds Are Budgeted

A preliminary figure of $274,784 has been budgeted by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors for establishment of a North County Mental Health Center, which will probably be located in the Westlake section of Daly City.

The sum is part of a record $2,048,900 county mental health budget being considered by the supervisors.

Only $376,389 of that amount will have to be raised by local taxes, according to Controller Ira A. Boynton.

Boynton said that while the health and welfare services and costs are almost entirely controlled by state and federal rules, major increases in the budget are planned for local services.

Dr. Joseph Downing, program chief of the county health department, said the county is moving as fast as it can on the establishment of the clinic.

He said he doubted if the clinic would be opened before May 1.

The county had been looking in both the older section of the city and in Westlake for a temporary location for the center.

"It is hoped that as the North County grows, a building with complete mental health facilities will be built there," he said.

One of the problems that will be encountered in opening the clinic will be staffing. Downing said. He explained that psychiatrists and mental health facility personnel are generally in short supply.

Heading the clinic will be Dr. Howard Gervitz, assistant program chief.

Final decision on the opening of the clinic will be made by County Manager Robert Stallings. The lease contract has to be approved by the county Board of Supervisors.

BETTER BUSINESS Installment Sales Governed by Act

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, Better Business Bureau "Barometer"

THE UNRUH ACT regulates all sales that are paid for over a period of time. Such sales are usually goods purchased for personal or family use.

A service charge is not an insult to the buyer's pocketbook, but a charge made for using the seller's money for a period of time.

The service charge cannot be determined in advance because it is computed monthly on the unpaid balance.

The buyer will save money by making as large a down payment as possible and paying off the contract in as short a time as possible.

There can be no service charges in addition to the legal rate. The most a retailer can legally charge for a budget or revolving charge account is 1½ per cent of the unpaid balance at the end of the monthly period if $1,000 or less is owed.

If the customer owes more than $1,000, the monthly charges are 1½ per cent on the first $1,000, or $15, plus one per cent of any amount over $1,000.

THE TIME to decide whether it is worthwhile paying the extra cost of installment buying, (sometimes called "Time Price Differential") to obtain goods immediately or whether it is wiser to wait and pay cash, is before signing and not after signing the contract.

Neither the Unruh Act, nor any other piece of legislation can protect the buyer unless he assumes some of the responsibility of signing contracts and stops trying to make a contract a one-way deal—binding on the businessman but not on the customer.

Buyer and seller are not bound by anything not in the contract, but everything contained in the contract binds both parties.

A contract, once signed, cannot be changed or cancelled unless both parties agree.

Under the Unruh Act, every contract must contain this notice:

1. Do not sign this agreement before you read it or if it contains any blank spaces.

2. You are entitled to a completely filled-in copy of this agreement.

3. Under the law, you have the right to pay off in advance the full amount due, and under some certain conditions, to obtain a partial refund of the service charge.

Until a legible copy of a contract is delivered to the buyer with all the terms of the contract filled in and signed by seller, he is obligated to pay only the cash sale price.

If the contract is sold to a third party, such as a bank or a financing agency, the buyer must be notified.

If there are any complaints about the sale, the customer must notify the new holder of the contract within 15 days after receiving notice of the transfer of the contract. If this is not done in the prescribed time all right to claims are lost.

AN INSTALLMENT contract may be re-financed if both parties agree and the unpaid balance of contract set up in a new schedule of installment payments.

If both parties agree scheduled payments may be deferred. If the buyer signs a "balloon contract" (one in which one of the installments is more than double the amount of the average of the preceding ones) he is legally entitled to a new schedule of payments if unable to make the large payment.

The new payments may not legally be substantially larger than the previous ones.

IN CASE the buyer defaults on paying the payments or on any of the other obligations contained in the contract, the seller may (1) repossess the goods, (2) sue for the balance without repossessing goods and (3) attach wages or salary any time after 60 days of default.

If the seller repossesses goods, the buyer must be notified, either in person or by mail, of his intention to re-sell or to keep goods to satisfy amount owed.

The buyer may redeem the goods within 10 days after receiving notice from seller or an time before they are resold by paying the amount due — plus any expenses incurred in the repossession.

There are no fees for redeeming goods.

If the repossession sale exceeds the amount owed, the buyer is entitled to the balance. If the proceeds of sale are less, the buyer owes the seller the difference plus the expenses incurred by the seller.

The Unruh Act does not cover services for installation and repair of goods. Doctor and dental services are also excluded. Automobiles and real estate contracts are covered by other laws.

The major work of the Better Business Bureaus throughout the country is to build a greater public confidence between business and the buying public.

New Penney Store Will Be Opened

J. C. Penney Company has signed a lease to build its largest suburban store to date in the new $10-million shopping center located between Palo Alto and Mountain View in California.

The store will be in a three-story building covering 200,000 square feet.

The building measuring 200 by 390 feet will be the largest suburban facility in Penney's nationwide chain of nearly 1,070 stores.

It is the third full-line department store of more than 150,000 square feet which the Penney Company plans for California.

Exemplifying the "New

JACK C. BARRETT of 500 Higate Drive, Daly City, has been elected vice president of Home Mutual Savings, Berkeley Savings and Pioneer Investors Savings. Before joining Home Mutual in 1960 as a loan officer, he was a real estate representative and broker in Daly City and San Francisco.

RUSSELL A. SPILLMAN, son of Mrs. Catherine Walker of Pacifica, has been named president and managing officer of the new Alameda First National Bank, now being organized. He has been serving as vice president of the First National Bank of Nevada.

Article on Unification Is Assailed

Trustees and the superintendent of the Jefferson Union High School District last week assailed an article in a Bay Area Sunday newspaper that was concerned with school district costs and proposed legislative action on school district unification.

Supt. Edward D. Morgan, in delivering a slashing attack on the article, declared:

"What this article has done is attempt to add up oranges, cherries, apples, bananas and what have you and make the sum represent some factual conclusion."

"It fails to take into consideration the various county services available to some districts and unavailable to others."

"It adds bonded indebtedness to operating expenses in some districts and forgets about it in others."

The board authorized Moran to write a letter to the editor of the newspaper, asking equal space to present what Morgan said would be "the facts in proper sequence and with accurate figures."

STEADY PLUGGERS

Working men and women in the U.S. are comparatively stable on the job. A recent labor department study revealed that employed men have been with the same firm on the average of five and a half years and working women for an average of three years.

Training Fund Check Given

Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore has presented the county with a check in the amount of $2,640 as its share of the 1963 allocation from the California Peace Officers' Training Fund.

The Sheriff stated that San Mateo County strictly adheres to the standards for selection and training of peace officers prescribed in the Administrative and Penal Codes of California.

He reported that the objective of the program is to raise the level of competence of local police officers and deputy sheriffs through the establishment of minimum standards for their selection and training.

Former Jeff Pupils Named

Two former students of Jefferson High School were among 21 students in San Mateo County who have received Woodrow Wilson Fellowships since 1958, according to a survey by the fellowship foundation.

The students were Wallace I. Honeywell and Richard P. Stookey.

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation is a private organization that each year selects 1,000 applicants from college seniors to encourage talented students to choose college teaching as a career.

The survey showed that California is second in the nation in the number of secondary school graduates who later won the scholarships.

CATS

Manx cats are called rumpies or stumpsies. Rumpies, which have no tail at all, are considered more valuable than the stumpsies with a rudimentary tail.

Mrs. Mitchell Heads Group

Mrs. Jack Mitchell of 15 Garden Lane, Broadmoor, has been named to head a citizens' committee that will study the operation of the Jefferson Elementary School District's cafeteria program.

The committee will be asked to determine if the community is in favor of the program and if so, if it should be expanded.

OFFICE RANSACKED

Officials of Dave White Auto Sales at 7577 Mission Street, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that the company office had been ransacked but apparently nothing had been taken.

COMMENT

Jaycees Show Their Maturity

THE DALY CITY-COLMA Junior Chamber of Commerce, not quite two years old, has already grown out of organizational infancy and has become a full-fledged member of the community.

The Jaycees last week inaugurated their Distinguished Service Award dinner before a crowd of prominent Daly City residents who get a first-hand opportunity to see this energetic service club in action.

The capacity turnout and enthusiastic response was, we are sure, gratifying for this organization of young businessmen.

Jaycees, in establishing the Distinguished Service Award night, have set up some worthwhile goals for young men in the community to set their sights on. The City of Daly City should be justifiably proud of the selection of William Chapman, director of public works, as recipient of the first award.

OTHER AWARDS of commendation made that night to Daly City-Colma business and civic leaders express the Jaycees' laudable program of publicly recognizing worthwhile achievement.

The Jaycees paid further honors to Daly City through the personal appearance of two of their ranking officers—the California president and the vice president of the U.S. Junior Chamber—at the civic function.

We commend the local Junior Chamber of Commerce and foresee in this dynamic organization an illustrious future of service to the Daly City-Colma community.

The Dumping Must End

"IT IS a Sunday night and Westmoor grounds are deserted. From across the street a figure, hugging an overflowing family-size garbage can, trudges up the hill."

This somewhat mysterious, yet provocative beginning marked the opening paragraph of an editorial appearing in a recent issue of the Westmoor High School "Rampage", a student publication.

The editorial went on to lament the sorrowful behavior of adults who, almost weekly, dump a reported two truckloads of rubbish on the Westmoor High School lawns. (And with good journalistic enterprise, the student editorial backed up its complaints with an accompanying photograph of the mess left recently by thoughtless residents.)

THE WESTMOOR students' righteous indignation over the antics of some of the resident adult population was well voiced in the editorial.

To those neighboring householders using Westmoor High School as a garbage dump, we join in editorial union with the voice of the Rampage in urging an immediate cease and desist: "The eyes of Westmoor are upon you."

The Marquee

Drama in The Tent

Barbara Bladen

PENINSULANS will be rubbing elbows with big-name Hollywood stars on a year-round basis, according to producers Danny Dare and Sammy Lewis. They made their plans known at a press luncheon at which more impressive names were dropped than this area could ever hope to glean at race tracks, sports events, country fairs or society balls.

Tent theatres, the salvation of the legitimate stage, have found their way to the West Coast and with something of a belated pounce on the Bay Area. Although no official name has been chosen for the two and half million dollar enterprise slated to be built at 1800 Industrial Way in San Carlos, at the Redwood City Borderline, it will probably end up being something like Melody Theatre, Star Theatre, Circle Theatre or Showland. This is a completely separate operation from the previously announced tent theatre, Music Fair, proposed for Burlingame.

Lewis and Dare are partners in a successful year around tent theatre called Melody land in Anaheim, across from Disneyland. But they lost out on that name in the area when Ben Kapen, an East Coast producer began a Melodyland musical season in Berkeley, using big name stars in the lead roles.

SHOW BUSINESS has always been big business but for these two producers has proven "good" business. They claim to have paid off their investors after the first six months of the Southern California season.

The local stage will be identical with their first theatre. There will be 3270 seats ranging in price from $2 to $5 during the week and at matinees and another fifty cents across the board for weekend performances. A package deal will offer five shows for nine dollars.

Tent shaped, the structure will be of steel and concrete, with a center stage (actors make their entrances from the back of the auditorium through the audience) and a full orchestra accompaniment.

Theatres in metropolitan cities have been suffering greatly from a lack of parking facilities for their patrons and the fact that they have not been able to lure former theatre-goers away from the suburbs. Commuting, baby sitting, restaurant service and television have all leveled deadly blow to the institution of live theatre.

THE SAN CARLOS theatre will have a 400-seat restaurant, a bar and parking for 950 cars. It will employ a staff of 180 people, including office help, ushers, parking attendants, salesmen and such union employees as are called for in an all-professional theatre.

The shows will change every two weeks and will make up a musical season, children's theatre, concert dates and special attractions. The theatre will operate all year round.

Although the producers have not yet announced the lineup of shows which will begin in August, their repertoire will duplicate that of the Anaheim company.

A BRIEF shower Friday afternoon cleared the atmosphere and here's what residents at the north end of Seaview Drive in Daly City saw as they looked north along the coastline. A strong wind that afternoon produced an ocean full of breakers and a lively surf. This is another in a series of views that can be seen from different parts of Daly City. The series observes the city's 53rd birthday. (Post-Times Photo)

North County Notebook

That Topic Will Recur

Ron Bates

PETE SEEGER, a soft-voiced folk singer, is making a mint with a ballad called "Little Boxes" and he can thank Daly City for it.

Author of the song, Malvina Reynolds of Berkeley, told newsmen recently that she was inspired to write the song while driving down Skyline Boulevard through Daly City. The "little boxes" in the catchy song refer to the rows of homes, which line the highway on either side.

Those "little boxes" have become a topic of discussion at the Daly City Personnel Board meetings recently and will continue to be a recurring topic as home values in this area increase at the rate of approximately $700 a year.

That's because Daly City has a residence requirement for all of its employees. Once a person is hired, he has a year to move into the city.

The requirement was originally intended to make elected city officials responsible to city employees.

The council, it was supposed, would hesitate to act capriciously toward an employee who was entitled to vote in the election of council members.

The ruling was set when the city was smaller and homes not so expensive.

The Daly City firemen met with the personnel board two weeks ago in a special meeting to discuss wage and fringe benefits. One of the first requests of the firemen was to have the residence requirement waived.

Speaking on behalf of the firemen, Battalion Chief Mel Hansen pointed out that it was almost impossible for a fireman on his wage to qualify for a loan on a home in Daly City.

Homes in some of the surrounding areas, however, were much less expensive and did not require such large loans or down payments, he said.

THE PERSONNEL BOARD last November turned down a similar request from the police department. The request asked that the city's boundary line, insofar as the residence requirement was concerned, be extended to include Broadmoor and unincorporated Colma.

Board member Joe Schultz' motion to that effect, however, died for lack of a second.

Broadmoor is known sometimes as "the hole in the doughnut" because it is almost completely surrounded by fast-growing Daly City.

There is really no obvious line of demarcation between the two communities and it seems only a matter of time before Daly City will swallow Broadmoor up.

It appears as if the personnel board is going to have to re-evaluate the ruling or to raise the salaries of new city employees if the city wants to draw good, qualified men into its departments.

FREDERICK REMINGTON'S OWN OUTDOORS, Edited by Douglas Allen. Published by The Dial Press, Inc. $7.50.

Reviewed by GEOFF CURRALL
COMPANION volume to "Frederic Remington's Own West." The Dial Press has published "Frederic Remington's Own Outdoors," edited by Douglas Allen and with an introduction by Harold McCracken.

It is a handsome book—welcome to anybody's library, and profusely illustrated with sketches by the late author. It is just as appealing to the teen-age reader as it is to the adult buff of the lore of the Old West.

"... Own Outdoors" shows Remington as the diversified man he was—artist, writer and sportsman.

He won acclaim as the "artist of the Old West." He won equal fame in his day for his documentation of the then-sporting world.

IN THIS NEW volume are gathered together for the first sketches about such diversified sports as football, fishing and shooting.

Take, for instance, the accounts of peccary hunting in Mexico; pursuit of caribou and moose in the Canadian Wilderness, and of the grizzly bear in the Rocky Mountains.

Remington, the sportsman, courses the "jack" in Kansas; pursues the cactus country blue quail, and fishes the Florida waters.

Ninety-five of Remington's drawings and paintings—some for the first time, are published in this companion book. Others have appeared in Harper's, Collier's and Century magazine.

THE EDITOR of this new collection, Douglas Allen, is a printing engineer who became interested in the works of Remington.

Allen authored "Frederic Remington, Author and Illustrator," an edition published by New York's Public Library. Provider of the introduction—Harold McCracken, is director of the Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney Gallery of Western Art in Cody, Wyo.

For readers of all ages who are interested in the never-ending story of the Old West, this is a "must." The name "Remington" is an All-American byline.

Pacific Parade

What? Another Bay Area Tour?

Don Miller

THE THINGS you see or experience for the first time each time a visitor from the East pops in for a few days...

Like the space-bound palm tree in Suto's that has no place to grow now but right up through the multi-colored skylight and out into the ocean breezes...

Or hearing your visitor, as he gazes at the extensive Tom Thumb collection of miscellany at Suto's, exclaim with genuine surprise that he always thought Tom Thumb was a legend rather than a real life midget—an observation, incidentally, shared by a surprising number of people...

Or seeing with almost unbelieving eyes not one but a dozen seals out on Seal Rocks at Point Lobos—a sight so startling because you long ago were convinced that Seal Rocks had become a myth that you thought it was all some sort of mirage (a thesis quickly harpooned by a waitress at the Cliff House who announced joyfully that the seals out there on the rocks represented a record assemblage for the past two years).

THEN, TOO, being told that for years only one company had operated scenic bay cruises from Fisherman's Wharf and that now a second line is running and the competition at the wharf for patronage is downright torrid.

So torrid, in fact, that one of the competitors has a gal hawker that would shame a circus Barker—a hawker so insistent that she all but Shanghai's would-be bay travelers.

Or eating a large portion of crowd after declaring to your guest that Bolinas is one of the truly quaint and out of the way places in the Bay Area where you rarely find many people—and then visiting there on a warm Sunday and being unable to find a parking place because Bolinas has been hit by a deluge of surfers and fishermen.

AND UP ON that twisting road to Mt. Tamalpais, discovering that a mid-week visit to the little German restaurant and beer garden along the way can be the next thing to heaven for the noise three million people and their machines make below is totally absent and the feeling is almost akin to Neville Shute's "On the Beach"...

And then on the top of the mountain itself, finding that you can be there when the wind is benign rather than boisterous and seeing the really inspiring view of a large chunk of Northern California that greets you when an earlier wind has cleared the air of haze and, yes, even smog...

Or finding out to your dismay how badly people can behave in a national park as you stroll through Muir Woods on a holiday weekend and see visitors picking at this shrub or that plant while their offspring are industriously heaving a good portion of the park into the stream that trickles along the pathways...

And then witnessing another case of decidedly poor behaviour at San Francisco's Opera House as you tell your guest how well-attended the symphony is this year and then listen as a young college student lustily boos a performance of "La Valse"—a booing that subsequently confronts him with a horde of angry listeners and an ultimatum from the head usher that he'd get the heave-ho if the booing is repeated.

AND UP ON that most famous of San Francisco's famous hills—Telegraph—realizing as you drive tortoise-fashion up the hill behind an interminable string of cars that the parking lot is full on top and that before your car can move as much as one car-length, somebody up there has to leave...

Or finding out you aren't as clever as you thought you were going to be in finding a vantage point for your guest for the Chinese New Year's Parade when you discover that all those doorways and fire escapes leading to roofs, unlocked last year, have been locked in the Year of the Dragon...

And after the parade, eating another dish of crow as you attempt to motor through one of the worst—if not THE worst—traffic tieups in the city's history—after earlier observing authoritatively to your visitor that traffic moves well most of the time in San Francisco...

Or discovering that the architectural monstrosity that spans the upper bay from San Rafael to Richmond really can be aesthetically appealing if you approach it from the Marin County end in a setting sun and drink in the mixture of steel arches, deep blue sky overhead and sparkling waters rushing by underneath.

THEN TOO, finding out you've been flubbing the dub in your very own Gray Line tours for visitors but not previously driving over to Treasure Island on a clear night and taking in what can only be belied as a spectacular look at the city's skyline...

And finally, concluding that you probably get as much of a kick (if not more so) out of visiting all these places again as your guest does in seeing them for the first time.

Which only makes you a hypocrite because, upon being informed of the arrival of a visitor from the East, you usually lament: "What? Not another tour of the Bay Area?"

Peninsula Panorama

Cutting Down The Gaspers

George Whitesell

WHETHER OR NOT there has actually been a decrease in cigarette smoking on this Peninsula, this department does not pretend to know.

We do know, however, that thousands of Peninsulans have attempted, with varying success, to cut down on their daily ration of gaspers.

And we know, also, that only about 1 in 20 of those who tried to stop smoking entirely, after that government report, have made the grade.

Most of the efforts to quit smoking were dismal failures. Some did not last out the first day and a week was about the limit for many others. Judging by the effort involved, those who did manage to quit did so by superhuman effort and are entitled to congratulations.

The efforts to "cut down" have shown a broad range of ingenuity on the part of Peninsulans.

Perhaps the easiest of methods invented was simply switching back from "king size" cigarettes to "regulars."

Only slightly more complicated was a similar plan for cutting each cigarette in half with scissors so that a "two packs a day" man could reduce consumption to one pack. This one sold a lot of cigarette holders to people with burned fingers.

A few went back to "rolling their own" in hope that the extra work involved would cut consumption. This appears to have been a complete flop and only resulted in holes burned in shirts and coats.

MOST OF the cutback schemes and plans involved some form of self-rationing.

Fairly common was the three-a-day plan which is supposed to allow one cigarette after each meal. This is a familiar gambit to cigar smokers, but it does not seem to have worked as well with cigarettes—probably because a cigarette does not give as long a smoke as a cigar.

The conclusion of those who tried the three-a-day was that it would have been simpler to try to stop smoking entirely.

Three cigarettes a day just kept the appetite for them alive and worrisome.

THE "TEN-A-DAY" plan worked much better and many who started on this regimen have been able to stay with it.

Like the other rationing plans, however, it keeps the smoker acutely conscious of his longing for a smoke and is distracting because it forces him to keep count. Some have solved this by converting it to "about ten-a-day."

One practitioner of this method told us: "I just smoke about ten a day—what I can't understand is that I have to start out with a new pack every morning."

Either he is smoking "about 10," which is really 20, or he is a pigeon for one of those other fellows who are trying to cut down by refusing to buy cigarettes and smoke only those they "borrow" from others.

ONE OF THE MOST complicated rationing systems devised was originated by a couple of computer experts on the south Peninsula.

This consisted of an elaborate time schedule that permitted cigarettes at 20-minute intervals the first day, 25 minutes the second, 30 minutes the third, and so on.

The theory was that, eventually, there would be one 24-hour interval with no cigarettes at all, and then a new day, also with none.

This worked for eight days, then somebody lost the schedule and no one had time to look for it. In fact, nobody wanted to.

ONE OTHER scheme that was a distinct failure called for smoking cigarettes without inhaling.

Smokers found this was virtually impossible without concentrating on it and that, at best, it was simply an intake of hot air without any satisfaction.

And there is plenty of hot air around—you don't have to buy it.

The only real successes were scored by people who simply resolved to smoke less and followed through on it without worrying or bragging. This can be done and a lot of smokers are doing it—or think they are.

'Bustles and Boffs' Goman's 90's Tonite

FRIDAY NIGHT was the grand opening of the new revue at Goman's 90's — "Bustles and Boffs." It has been months in preparation and, I am told, is one of the best, if not THE best show ever at the popular San Francisco dance-show club. Star is pretty Patrice Michaels, who has sung and danced in such outstanding shows as "The Merry Widow," "Rose Marie," "Carousel," "Dam Yankees" and "Brigadoon." There will be all-new songs, dance and humor by Bee, Ray, and Ray K. Goman, and new novelties with the Coralene Dancers, including Nancy Boddy, the "B-B Girl" (Body Beautiful). Lew Lehr quips, at his FOSTERS ORIGINAL PANCAKE AND CHICKEN HOUSE offers a very inviting luncheon menu for folks in a hurry, or for those who wish to enjoy a leisure hour of dining. Enjoyed the hot Pot Roast Sandwich, Thursday noon, and must say, it's a filling noon-day meal. Don't forget to ask for your "Toy Buck"—save them for the kiddies. Toys are on display at Fosters restaurant and may be redeemed when you have the necessary amount of "Bucks." "One buck free with every buck spent." Three delightful new dishes have been added to the menu at Panchos Mexican restaurant in Redwood City, for Lent. All meatless and authentic south-of-the-border recipes: Abondigas de Camaron, Nopalitos con Huevo and Capirotada Monterrey. It will be fun to order up and be surprised, if you haven't already tried them. The authentic Polynesian decorations of the famous Lanai restaurant (next to the Villa Chartier) makes it popular with everyone. A wonderful place for entertaining guests. Relax and enjoy a tropical drink in the exotic cocktail lounge.

BARNEY O'MALIA, the Lake Tahoe (South Shore) Casino boss who is visiting in the Monterey area, combines business with pleasure. After his new Greyhound Bus schedule gets under way, Mr. O'Malia will spend a few leisure hours fishing, the sport foremost on his out-door schedule. I never get tired of bending an ear with Kelly, the bartender at Joe's of Westlake, who can talk on any subject. And when it comes to preparing a drink, he's tops. When you hear Mary Ann Hay sing "Bill Bailey Won't You Please Come Home" at Nick Gust's in Pacifica, you'll wonder why the guy ever left. Clara Irby is once again at menu attention in Mori's Point Inn.

Giraffes With Your Martins

Ron Giannotti is giving away giraffes with every martini at his Surf House. Sounds a little Frank Buck-ish, but it's true. Brunch will be served here starting Sunday, March 1. Eggs with all the trimmings, and the fizz of your choice will be prepared with a goodly portion of spirits. Better make a reservation for this eye opening occasion. The Surf House is open seven nights a week; dinner served until 12 midnight.

What with the wide selection of Holiday Week Ends (both in and out of town) at one's finger tip, my suggestion is to pay heed to the one Frank Dennison offers at the Sheraton Villa Motor Inn in San Mateo. Information may be obtained by phoning FI 1-0966. All the comforts of a resort are yours for the reservation. The price of $21 per person (double occupancy) can't be beat.

Finocchio's in San Francisco is one night club which really could use more seating capacity. Although some 500 persons can be accommodated there each show, hundreds of fun-seekers are turned away on weekend nights. Few night spots anywhere in the West can match the constant popularity of Joe Finocchio's lavish musical revues, featuring as they do the "world's foremost female impersonators."

This will never happen, I know, but if Keith Williamson ever changes his restaurant shingle from a Chicken House to an Italian restaurant, he'll have no problem making the switch — spaghetti, ravioli and pot roast are already big sellers here. Don't forget the Friday Night Fish Fry.

Soler And Lorca Return To Sinaloa

Soler and Lorca, Sinaloa favorites and one of the most outstanding Flamenco dance teams in show business today, returned by popular demand to Luz Garcia's Sinaloa on last Sunday. Balance of the show is held over—with Raul Martinez, Latin vocal great; Gladys Garcia, "Orbit Dancer"; "The Three Mosquitoes," comedy dance team, and Armando Duval, handsome master of ceremonies.

The Sinaloa, with its decor and atmosphere of old Mexico, has been serving the dining out public Mexican and American food at the same location under the ownership of hostess-owner Luz Garcia for the past 30 years.

One of the Peninsula's best "complete dinner" values (soup, salad, entree with vegetable, roll and butter, choice of dessert, coffee or tea) is served at Moars Cafeteria in Hillside Plaza for $1.69 and $1.79; children under 12 years, $1.

Enrico Romano, the Pacifica pizza king and Italian food specialist, tells me that Adam must have been the first electronics engineer, because he provided the spare parts for the first loud speaker.

Primo Pichetti Has Steady Job

Looks like Primo Pichetti has a steady job as chef at Nick Finocchio's New Tivoli—he's starting on his 20th year here. Putting all the spaghetti he has prepared in the past end to end, it would circle the globe a time or two. He's a scallopini specialist, too, and invites you to stop in on your next visit to San Francisco's North Beach so he can prove it to you. During Lent, the New Tivoli features three fish dishes, along with the regular menu selections.

With Fabyan and Danny entertaining in the cocktail lounge from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., and "Patti and Mac" taking over at 9 p.m., the Mountain View Caravan Inn has a lively fun package. This is a real action place with fun galore at all hours.

Gourmet food and fine entertainment are part of the luxury you enjoy when selecting the Hyatt House Hotel in Burlingame. There is also Johnny Kan's far famed Cantonese restaurant on the second level which offers the ultimate in dishes of the old country. Teacher Groups Support Coaches' Extra Pay Bid

A request by coaches in the Jefferson Union High School District for more pay for extra work has received the support of both the American Federation of Teachers and the Jefferson Union High School District's Teachers Association. However, the bid has yet to gain the approval of the district's board of trustees. The request for extra pay for after-school coaching duties, coupled with a plan to finance the district's pay roll, was submitted to the board a month ago and taken under consideration. At the board's last meeting, trustees decided to defer action again, pending a ruling from the District Attorney on what constitutes the average teaching day. The issue also was to be discussed at a faculty meeting to be called by Superintendent of Schools Edward Morgan.

BREAST OF VEAL—Adding sausage, prunes and apricots to the stuffing will give a delicious flavor.

Breast of Veal Delicious Stuffed

A stuffed breast of veal makes a delicious and interesting main course — inexpensive, too. Cooks may find this dish worthwhile trying.

The breast of veal is sometimes found already boned at a market; if not, a meatman can prepare it.

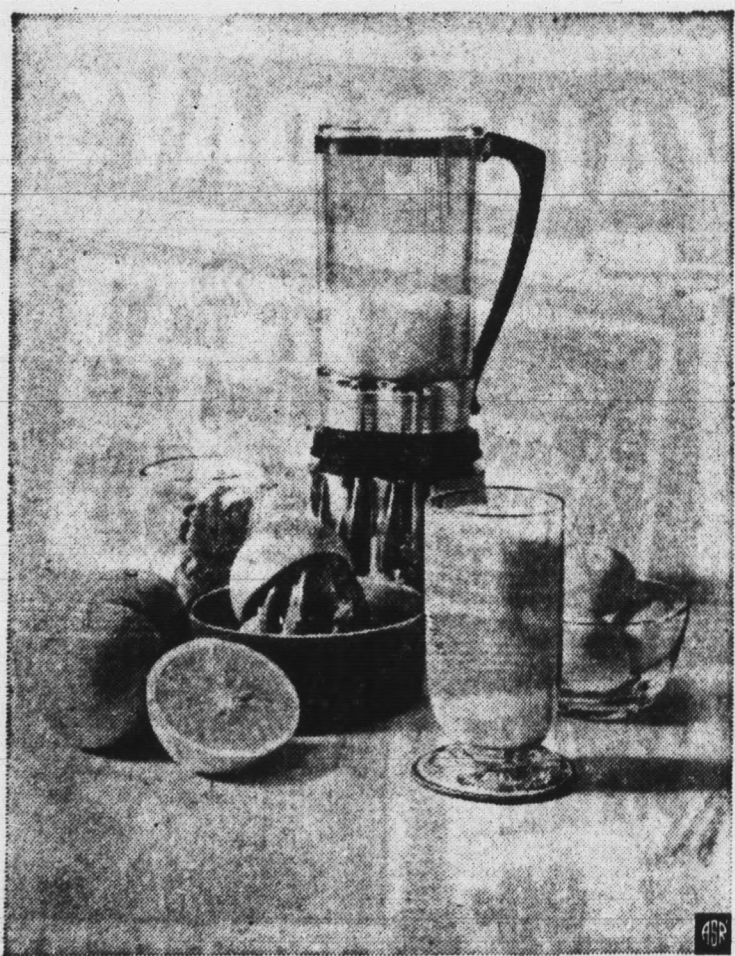

When we tried this dish, our tasters particularly liked the sauce concocted from canned chicken gravy and mushrooms.

STUFFED BREAST OF VEAL

- 1/2 pound bulk sausage
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- 2 cups packaged seasoned bread croutons
- 1/2 cup chopped prunes
- 1/4 cup chopped dried apricots
- A 3-pound boned breast of veal
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Pepper to taste
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) chicken gravy
- 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme

In a large skillet cook the sausage, crumbling with a fork with the onion and celery until the vegetables are wilted. Mix in the croutons, prunes and apricots; arrange over half of veal; fold over. Sew edges together or fasten with skewers. Sprinkle veal with salt and pepper. Place meat in a shallow baking pan. Roast in a slow (325 degrees) oven for about 1 1/2 hours; remove fat from pan. Into drippings stir the chicken gravy, drained mushrooms and thyme. Roast for about 1 hour longer or until veal is very tender, basting several times with the sauce in the pan. Makes 6 servings.

1-Stop Breakfast With a Blender

It's not really how you eat breakfast that's important, but what. It's the nutrients you consume as fuel for the day that count, and not the time you take to eat a lot. The key to successful nutrition is recognizing your own needs, then filling them properly. If you don't like solid food upon arising, are in too much of a hurry in the morning, or live alone and don't like to fuss—you can solve your breakfast problem with a delicious solution: an all-in-one shake.

In a blender, combine Florida orange juice, milk, corn flakes, an egg—and maple syrup or honey if you like a sweet touch—and enjoy a tasty, frothy drink that will give you all the morning nourishment you need! These ingredients provide protein, carbohydrates, calcium, thiamine and other key vitamins and minerals so necessary for daily energy as well as the continuous building and repairing program your body conducts.

While fresh Florida citrus fruit is at its best, squeeze your own oranges for incomparable fresh flavor. Orange juice provides valuable vitamin C (not stored by the body), particularly needed during the winter months to help build resistance to colds and other respiratory infections.

Do yourself a flavor favor and shake up this all-in-one breakfast!

All-In-One Breakfast Shake

- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup Florida orange juice
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons maple syrup or honey, optional

Combine all ingredients in blender. Blend until thoroughly mixed, about 1 minute. Serve immediately. YIELD: 2 servings.

SCALLOP SCRAMBLE- Pictured here are scrambled scallops served in flaky patty shells, accompanied by a delectable vegetable combination of carrots and broccoli.

Scallop Scramble A Lenten Entree

Scallops and eggs, scrambled together and served in warm flaky patty shells, make an excellent entree for your Lenten dinner. To complete your menu serve buttered carrots, broccoli, and lemon wedges.

SCALLOP SCRAMBLE

1 package frozen patty shells

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 pound fresh or thawed frozen scallops

6 eggs, beaten

1-3 cup light cream

½ teaspoon salt

Dash pepper

Snipped parsley

Prepare patty shells according to package directions. In skillet, melt butter. Add scallops and simmer until golden. Combine eggs, light cream, salt, and pepper. Add to scallops. Cook over low heat, stirring until cooked but not dry. Add parsley. Spoon into warm patty shells. Serves 4 to 6.

Ruby-Fruit Dessert Mold, With Tidbits

Molded gelatin desserts never seem to pale in people's favor. "Ruby Fruit Dessert" is a raspberry gelatin mold enhanced by sliced fresh California dates, pineapple tidbits, chopped almonds and fresh lemon juice. It's served with whipped cream and a garnish of whole pitted fresh dates from the Coachella Valley of South California.

RUBY FRUIT DESSERT

2 packages (3 oz. each) raspberry gelatin

¼ teaspoon salt

2 cups boiling water

1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

1 can (8½ oz.) pineapple tidbits

1 cup pitted fresh California dates

¼ cup chopped almonds

½ cup whipping cream

Pitted fresh California dates

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Add lemon juice. Drain pineapple, saving syrup. Measure syrup and add cold water to make 1½ cups. Stir in gelatin; chill until mixture mounds on spoon. Slice crosswise 1 cup dates. Add to thickened gelatin along with pineapple and almonds. Turn into 5- or 6-cup mold; chill until firm. Unmold. Whip cream. Garnish mold with cream and whole pitted dates.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Butter Grades Explained

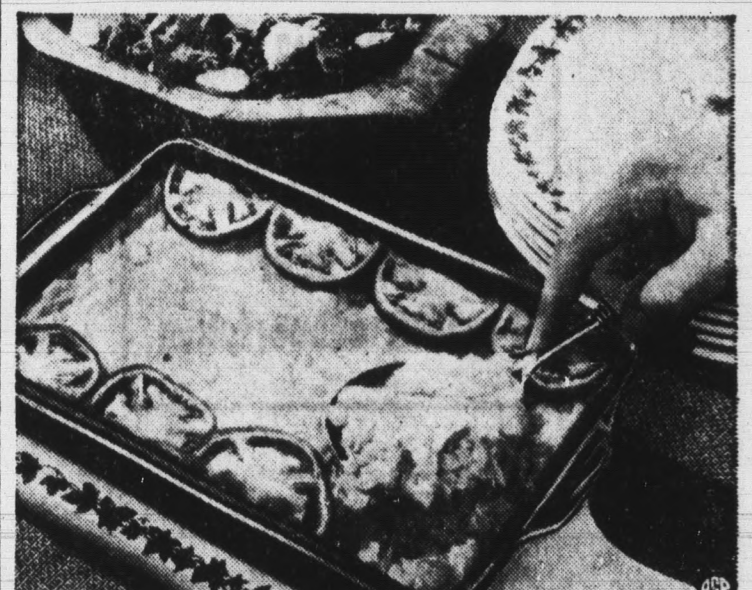

Make sure the butter you buy has the fresh flavor, aroma and texture by buying the carton with the U.S. Department of Agriculture grade shield on it. All butter with this shield has been tested for flavor and keeping quality; is packaged by modern automatic machines under sanitary conditions.

The double A grade means the butter has a highly pleasing aroma, a delicate, sweet flavor, and a smooth creamy texture that spreads well. Grade A butter is almost as good as double A grade but not quite. It's best used for seasoning vegetables and using in other cooking.

Apple Snack

Place a half slice of bacon around a wedge of apple and brown under the broiler or in a hot oven. Youngsters love these snacks.

Old-Time Flavor In Tuna Casserole

Here's a wonderful tuna-corn casserole, easy as can be to make, and economical, too. Delectable morsels of convenient canned tuna provide hearty good taste and good nutrition, too. One serving of tuna provides more complete protein than a comparable serving of red meat. The casserole takes only minutes to prepare and then the oven does the work for you. The result—a marvelous dish with old-fashioned flavor reminiscent of Grandma's corn pudding, combined to a "T" with the delicate taste of the tuna. Tomato slices add a cheery note of color. Serve with a green salad and you'll have a meal to remember!

Tuna-Corn Country Casserole

2 eggs

1 can (10½ or 11 ounces) cream of mushroom soup, undiluted

¼ cup milk

½ teaspoon Tabasco (optional)

1 can (1 pound) cream-style corn

Beat eggs; stir in soup, milk and Tabasco. Mix in corn, tuna and bread crumbs. Turn into buttered shallow casserole 10x8x1½ inches. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 45 minutes; remove. Cut tomato slices in half; place around edge of casserole. Sprinkle tomato slices with sugar and salt; dot with butter. Return to oven and bake 15 minutes longer.

YIELD: 6 servings.

2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil

1 cup soft bread crumbs

2 medium tomatoes, sliced

½ teaspoon sugar

½ teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon butter or margarine

County OK's Geneva Road Work Funds

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors has approved an appropriation of $21,200 for street improvement on Geneva Avenue in the vicinity of the Cow Palace.

Last year, the county road budget included $76,000 for work in this area. Traffic signals at Scherwin and Geneva Avenues were paid for by these funds, but an agreement on proposed signals at the Cow Palace and Geneva Avenue could not be reached.

A total of $39,566 remained from the 1962-63 budget. Since Daly City has annexed the Cow Palace area, the supervisors decided to apply $21,200 of the remainder toward the city's planned improvements on Geneva Avenue.

The balance in the fund will be available for the county's share of the signal system at the Cow Palace and Geneva Avenue when and if an agreement is reached with the state and city.

A Look at Yesteryear

A LOOK at Girl Scout uniforms of the past was provided by these members of Girl Scout Troop 331 in Pacifica at a Founder's Day meeting of the Terra Nova High School P-TA.

The girls are wearing uniforms that were typical of the 1920s. The Founder's Day meeting was held in the school.

Man Arrested On 3 Charges

A family dispute Saturday morning wound up in the arrest of a Daly City man on charges of possession of narcotics, possession of stolen goods and assault with a deadly weapon.

Arrested was Gilbert Flores, 30, of 6817-A Mission Street. Investigators said Flores admitted throwing a telephone at his common law wife, Dulcy P. Rivas, during an argument. She suffered a head cut.

While he was being led from the house, officers searched the premises and found what appeared to be a tobacco can filled with marijuana.

Investigators said they also seized a number of articles, including a bowling ball, a camera, a pistol, tools, alarm clock and a transistor radio.

JESD Backs CSM Bonds

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District have adopted a resolution, supporting passage of a $12.8-million bond issue for the College of San Mateo.

The issue will be submitted to residents of the junior college district March 24.

Proceeds of the bonds would be used to expand CSM's College Heights Campus, to develop the first phases of CSM's north and south campuses and to purchase a campus site on the coast.

Restitution Order Given

A Daly City housewife has been ordered to return to the county $2,900 she was convicted of receiving illegally in welfare payments.

Mrs. Betty Baker, 32, of 300 Park Plaza Drive, was placed on three years' formal probation by Municipal Judge W. Howard Hartley and ordered to make restitution at the rate of $100 a month for 29 months. Mrs. Baker was convicted of three counts of welfare fraud.

Speed Limit Reduced on Junipero Serra

No longer can you speed freely along Junipero Serra between San Bruno and South San Francisco.

The speed limit has been reduced to 55 miles per hour, all the way.

State Division of Highways personnel has installed the 55-mile-per-hour signs on both sides of the boulevard to avoid further pedestrian deaths.

Driving north, the first 55-mile sign is just north of Sneath Lane. There is another north of Arroyo Drive, a third north of King Drive.

The limit then is cut to 35 miles near the Clay Avenue crossing.

Southbound drivers will find a 55 mile-per-hour speed limit sign where the "End 35" sign used to be south of Clay Avenue, another 55 mph sign south of King, and a third south of Avalon Drive.

In addition, South San Francisco police officers have been instructed to patrol the road

Navy Father Witnesses Son's Induction Oath

William Thomas Carey witnessed the swearing of his son, William George into the Naval Reserve recently at the Naval Recruiting Center in the Naval Shipyard at Hunters Point.

The younger Carey will attend the basic Submarine School in San Francisco and shortly thereafter be assigned to active duty on one of the submarines of the fleet.

Until assignment to active duty he will be a member of Reserve Submarine Division 12-31 in the Hunters Point Shipyard of which his father is the chief-of-the-boat (a term used in submarines to denote the leading enlisted man).

Carey Sr. lives at 904 Southgate Avenue. He has been associated with the Navy since 1937, having served on active duty for nine years during and after World War II. He holds the Navy rank of Chief Machinist's Mate (Submarine Service) and his civilian occupation is with the Rescue Squad of the San Francisco Fire Department. Carey Jr. is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and has attended San Francisco State College.

Work Program Is Urged For Welfare Recipients

San Mateo County should get something for the welfare money it pays out and an interim work program would be the solution, Board of Supervisors Chairman James V. Fitzgerald told the board last week.

Welfare workers have been swamped with applications for welfare aid since passage of new state legislation granting aid to unemployed fathers and their families.

The result has been a general slowdown in interviews and placement in rehabilitation workshop programs, Fitzgerald said.

While things are being caught up in the office work, Fitzgerald suggested, crews of these fathers could be put to work on county roads and beaches or other worthwhile projects, the idea being to save county money.
